Human Rights Atrocities

Way back in 1946, a ways south of here in Panama, a training school for Latin American soldiers was created. It was called the School of the Americas (SOA); officially, it would later be called WHINSEC (Western Hemisphere Institute for Security Cooperation).

The school is now located in Columbus, Georgia, at Fort Benning Army Base. It has trained over 65,000 students from countries throughout Latin America and the Caribbean in tactical training. A majority of the perpetrators of human rights violations in Oscar Romero's assassination, the El Mozote Massacre, and the killings at the University of Central America were graduates of SOA. The point of contention between supporters of the school and SOA Watch, the protest movement, is the lack of acknowledgment of causation for the disproportionate number of SOA graduates' involvement in these and other atrocities. This insistence continues, even after human rights concerns escalated to the point of the school being closed down in late 2000. One month later, the school was reopened under the WHINSEC name with the same instructors, students, and mission. How much responsibility must a school take for the actions of its graduates? UD's Center for Social Concern believes... a lot of responsibility.

Lessons learned at the SOA/WHINSEC directly brought about turmoil and bloodshed in Latin America both in the past and present. UD has been sending students to the annual vigil and peaceful protest of the school every November for nearly 15 years. Students have also lobbied in D.C. for the cause as legislation (HR 3368) arises to address the school's operations. There is hope, especially as many countries in Latin America make the decision to no longer send students to WHINSEC because of its legacy as a catalyst for political and social unrest.

For more information, the film "On the Line" will be screened at 7pm in ArtStreet Studio B on Tuesday, October 23.

Sunday Readings and Reflection

Reading I: Isaiah 53:10-11
Responsorial Psalm: 33:4-5, 18-19, 20, 22
Reading II: Hebrews 4:14-16
Gospel: Mark 10:35-45 or 10:42-45

For the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many.
Mark 10:45

A local charity which serves the poor in the Dayton area will receive 10% of every Sunday collection. The rest of the collection supports more than 100 Campus Ministry programs of all kinds, including our

Service Program of the Week: Healing Hearts

is a health-related service club. They are involved with several different organizations including: Hospice, Humane Society of Greater Dayton, Children's Medical Center, and area nursing homes and other hospitals. A great opportunity for students in all majors to connect with the community and touch lives.

Domestic Winter BreakOuts

January 5-13

Want to do something different with your break? A BreakOut is a great way to learn about a new city and serve those in need. There is still room to attend a service trip to Solsberry Hill in Bloomington, IN; Chicago IL; and E. St. Louis. Sign up online. Registrations are due October 24.

The Thanksgiving Food Basket Drive is ON!

Your generosity is once again needed to help provide 550 families in our Dayton community with a Thanksgiving dinner. You or your group can donate either a basket of typical Thanksgiving Day non-perishables and $15 for a turkey, or $50 and we do it all. Drop off donations at the Campus Ministry vans on November 8 or 9 between 9am-6pm in C lot near Alumni Hall. Questions? Contact Lauren Farrell 229-3973.

Losing Alicia: A Father's Journey after 9/11

October 21, Sunday 7pm Sears Recital Hall

John and Bev Titus, who lost their daughter, Alicia, on 9/11, will speak in Sears at 7pm. Alicia was a flight attendant on the second plane. The Tituses are members of "9/11 Families for Peaceful Tomorrows," a group who are working for peace and nonviolence instead of retribution. Marianne Williamson says, "This book isn't the government or the media's take on 9/11, it's a father talking...with all the pain, eloquence and wisdom of a broken heart. For the real story of 9/11—the human story—delve into Losing Alicia. If you read one book about 9/11, make it this one."

UD Sustainability Week: Red and Blue Go Green

October 21-26

The kick-off will be from 2-6pm at the ArtStreet Complex with a celebration of sustainable living and fun for UD students. The week includes Energy and Food Awareness Days, National Sustainability Day, Day of Action and No-Impact Day. Questions? Contact Andrew at arkowals@gmail.com

Lighthouse Retreat

October 26-28

Sign up now for the Lighthouse Retreat! Take a weekend away with friends to relax in a beautiful setting, rejuvenate and reflect. Open to Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors. Sign up online.

Perspectives on Faith and Life

Faith, Politics, and Casting your Vote

Tuesday, October 23, 6:00-8:00pm Barrett Dining Room

Join faculty, staff and students for a free dinner, presentation by faculty, followed by facilitated table discussion in the Barrett Dining Room (KU). Presenters: Bro. Raymond Fitz, SM, Ferree Professor of Social Justice and Jason Pierce PhD, Chair, Department of Political Science, will provide perspectives on casting one's vote from both a political and faith-based perspective. Register online: go.udayton.edu/pfls.

Rites of Acceptance & Welcome

Sunday, October 28, 10am

Let us welcome the RCIA participants with a warm expression of hospitality. Weather permitting; there will be donuts, coffee, and cider in front of the chapel following Mass. Please consider attending the liturgy and stopping by the reception after mass to offer a word of encouragement to our UD RCIA participants.

Fund Raising Dinner for Sangillo, Malawi, Africa

Thursday, November 7, 7pm

The University of Dayton Chapter of Determined to Develop will be holding an authentic African benefit dinner in the College Park Center (across from Holy Angels). All proceeds from this dinner will go towards purchasing a well for the Sangillo Village Hospital in Malawi, Africa which currently does not have access to clean running water. Tickets are $5 for students, $15 for adults presale, and $20 for adult tickets at the door. Tickets can be purchased outside Kennedy Union starting Oct. 22 or online at dayton.udayton.edu and click "event registration."

Remembering Kristallnacht,

"Night of Broken Glass"

Tuesday Nov. 14, 5:30pm Immaculate Conception Chapel

A candlelight ceremony will be held in memory of the day the Nazis unleashed a wave of riots against Germany's Jews, arrested them on a massive scale and transported them to the concentration camps. The ceremony will include a musical remembrance by UD's World Music choir. Prior to this event there will be a Genocide Prevention Teach-In at the Roesch Library 1st floor from 3:30-5:15pm. Students will gain a greater understanding of the relevance of genocide prevention and their responsibility as global citizens. For information, contact Dr. Laura Leming FMI, at leming@udayton.edu

School of the Americas/WHINSEC

Tuesday, October 23, 7pm, On The Line Film

Graduates of the School of the Americas have participated in some of the worst human rights atrocities Latin America has ever experienced. Learn about this at the film screening of On the Line at ArtStreet Studio B. Questions? Contact Kara McNamara at mcnamarak1@udayton.edu

For more details and applications on all of the above, go to www.udayton.edu/ministry or call Campus Ministry at 229-3339 or the Center for Social Concern at 937-229-2524.
